JOURNAL OF MALAYSIAN CHINESE STUDIES

The Journal of Malaysian Chinese Studies is published half-yearly by the Centre for Malaysian Chinese Studies in Kuala Lumpur. It publishes original research papers relating to all aspects of the Chinese community in Malaysia as well as their relations with other ethnic groups in Malaysia or other overseas Chinese communities, especially those in Southeast Asia. Its aims are to encourage academic research on the Chinese from a multi-disciplinary perspective, to serve as a forum for intellectual discourse, and to promote inter-ethnic understanding and co-operation. The scope of the journal covers issues on the trends, problems, and policies relating to cultural and historical studies, socio-economic and political studies, and inter-ethnic relations.
